

Chapter Meeting: Monday, October 10 at 7 p.m. Milwaukie Center, 5440 SE Kellogg Creek Dr., Milwaukie

Northwest Plant Evaluations: Plant Trials & the Results - Neil Bell *MG Education Credit

In 2000, Neil Bell began research to identify a palette of shrubs suitable for low-input, un-irrigated landscapes in the Willamette Valley. Since 2000, he has conducted many studies of landscape plants for drought tolerance and cold hardiness. Studies on Ceanothus, Halimium, Hebe and Grevillea have concluded and results continue to inform the nursery industry and home gardeners in plant selection. ### Green Glove Award: Kris LaMar, class of 2013

Kris LaMar is the shining star of the 2016 Speakers Bureau. Out of 42 special talks given to groups around the county this year, Kris did 12, the most out of all members of the bureau. She is very knowledgeable in a wide range of topics, especially soils. Attendees always rate her evaluations with positive comments, and give her high marks; many of the groups ask specifically for her to return when requesting a talk. Thank you Kris, for having such a positive impact on the citizens you speak to and educate!
