Clackamas Monthly News: November 2017

Chapter Meeting - Monday, November 13 at 7 p.m.

Milwaukie Center, 5440 SE Kellogg Creek Dr., Milwaukie

Growing Conifers: What Gardeners Can Learn from Christmas Trees, Chal Landgren, OSU's Christmas Tree Specialist

Many gardens include conifers such as Douglas, noble, grand, Nordmann or Turkish firs. Chal's talk will focus on common problems that gardeners and Christmas tree growers share. Some of the problems may have a solution, others may simply be warnings to avoid future problems. He will also discuss some of the culturing tips that may be useful in gardens. Click the Lectures link (above) for more information on this month's speaker. <http://oregonstate.edu/dept/NWREC/programs/christmas-trees> *MG education credit*

Fall into Gardening

Our Fall into Gardening event made 700 educational contacts with this year's event . More than 130 people came out and evaluations are very positive. A special thanks to all the volunteered and attended.

Green Glove Award: Rhonda Frick-Wright, class of 2016

Rhonda is the epitome of the perfect first-year veteran. As an intern, she literally dug right into the Master Gardener program and continued to keep digging as soon as she was awarded her orange veteran badge. Rhonda loves to keep her gardening mind sharp. She shows her enthusiasm and dedication to the program by attending as many continuing education workshops as she can as well as chapter meetings. She is patient with clients needing answers to their home gardening problems, while demonstrating to them the utmost respect. Rhonda tries to schedule one shift per week at the phones, showing a model commitment we should all emulate. With all of her participation in multiple program and partner activities, she volunteered nearly 200 hours her first year as a veteran. Thank you, Rhonda, for your dedication to the public, your enthusiasm for the Master Gardener program, and to the chapter.
